ITALIAN EMIGRATION.

Starting on a basis of calculation that there are 200,000 Italians settled in this country, that the current of emigration from the Mediterranean will maintain the actual ratio of, say, 50,000 per annum, we may safely anticipate that the Argentine Republic ten years hence will contain 1,000,000 of Italians. Although, as a rule, theoretical inductions of this kind are generally erroneous, as they often start from a problematic basis, it may be safely said that the figure will not be far from the mark.

One million of Italians, exclusive of other nationalities from other states of Europe, will effect a wonderful change in the moral status of this country, and it really would be highly interesting if some Argentine Dr. Pangloss, well versed in Argentine physiology and psychology, or some Argentine Alcibiades of this Athens of South America would appear on the comic stage of actual controversy and peer into the conflicts and 'harmonies' of race which threaten the future of the Republic.

It needs no scientific mind to sit upon a tripod and discuss this very important question in the columns of the press. All bear the fixed conviction already, that if the Municipal elections of this city were carried out in all the immaculate purity of the law's text, the coming Corperation would be composed of Italians in a sweeping majority; all know that if the camp Municipalities of the country were named by the people and not by the authorities that Italians would form the great component part of same; finally all are convinced that the Italian is the back-bone of the country, because he has inherited the expansive qualities of his ancestors, whether Longobards, Romans or Vandals. A man may travel from Patagones, situated in the "non plus ultra" of 'recadoism,' to the foot of the Andes and to the confines of the Brazilian and Bolivian states, but if endowed with any spirit of observation he must confess that the Italian element is rising fast, not quite so hazy as the "fata morgana," as many would fondly think. The Italian is the pioneer of the republic; the last hut on the frontier, the last habitation outside a country town, belongs to an Italian who has transferred his penates from the banks of the Po, of the Adige or the Tiber, to the native Rio Negro, Tunuyam or Salado. The Italian is irrepressible and his foot-steps are not printed on sand, they are stamped on the progress of the nation. Who doubts the fact!

In presence of such stubborn facts it is relatively easy to foresee the natural groove of the future development of this country. It is a most happy fact, an unexpected result, that the Italian is so to say assimilated to the country in which he works and thrives. The Italian loves the country, and it must be confessed that his offspring, which is numerous, bears no longer the characteristics of the generator. Italians born in this country are thorough Argentines; whether it be the climate, the food, or the surroundings, it matters little; the fact stands.

Nevertheless, a large agglomeration of Italians in a single province, as is taking place in Santa Fe, must tell sooner or later; the men up to the present are busy in the bitter struggle for life, making bread and coining money. When this phase passes and prosperity crowns their efforts and constitutes the majority a well-dressed and ambitious element, a necessary demand for representation will take place, which will be felt in a very strained manner as the native rural element cedes the ground and is driven into the pampa by the hard-working chacarero, who is nearly always an Italian, sometimes a Basque, and seldom indeed a native.

A struggle of a most interesting nature is at present taking place in this province; it is a death struggle between the supremacy of beds and "recados." The issue of the contest is certain; the bed must conquer. The Italian advances with beds, a family and agricultural elements against the gaucho with his "recado," his "lasso" and his nomad appendages. It will indeed be a great event when every man in the republic will sleep in his bed and boil a chicken in his pot. Ten years will work this change in the more advanced districts of the republic, but the change will embody an ethnological metamorphisis—the incorporation of the weaker into the stronger element. Let Argentine statesmen peer into the future and mould their internal policy to the fatal force of the actual social development spreading from the Boca into the Calle Florida and radiating towards all points of the compass in the republic.

IMPORTANT FROM CHILE.

About a fortnight ago all the newspapers of this city published a very interesting correspondence between General Villegas and the Commander-in-Chief of the Chilian forces on the other side of the Andes. The Chilian General couched his note to the Argentine general in terms rather ambiguous; assured him of the good will of the Chilian Government, offered him provisions and arms, and everything he might be in need of; the end of the note expressed much astonishment that Argentine troops should have passed the international frontier and pursued Indians on Chilian territory. The Chilian General wound up requesting the release of all Indians captured on Chilian territory, no doubt as a species of "amende honorable" for the invasion of the territory of the Chilian Republic. The tone of this note excited much attention and not a little astonishment here.

General Villegas answered the Chilian note in military form; he laconically thanked his Chilian colleague, and reciprocated his offers. With regard to the release of Indian prisoners he gave a decided "non possumus," and in reference to the invasion of Chilian territory by Argentine troops he frankly confessed that such a violation might casually have taken place and would perhaps re-occur in the fever of a hot pursuit of the Indian foe, the common enemy of Chile and the Argentine Republic. General Villegas finally stated that he was on the look-out for a Chilian commander who acted as an Indian spy, with the intention of submitting him to a drum-head court-martial and shooting him. The tone of General Villegas's note was formal, its tenor was neither friendly nor hostile, but many comments were made on this extraordinary correspondence between the two commanders of forces at the foot of the Andes.

Yesterday telegrams were published, under date Valparaiso 22nd inst., announcing a collision between Argentine and Chilian troops in the Cordillera, and several killed and wounded in the fray. The laconic telegram states that the news has made a very disagreeable impression in Chile, and that its confirmation is anxiously awaited. There is no doubt that there is bad feeling between the Generals of both armies, as can be seen by the notes exchanged, and it is very possible that Argentine troops have crossed the frontier in pursuit of the savages; a Chilian detachment must have met the pursuers on Chilian territory and have demanded surrender, which was answered with bullets from the Argentine troops.

Although the question may give rise to a voluminous diplomatic correspondence, it will certainly have no ulterior consequences. It is a disagreeable incident, which may terminate in the removal of both commanders operating on the Southern frontier of both countries.

Since our writing the foregoing the Nacion has published the following bulletin:—

Santiago, Chile, 23d.

The Argentine Expeditionary troops south of Patagonia were encamped near Lake Guayetue, opposite the Lonquimay volcano. The Chilian troops seeing the Argentines on Chilian territory, sent a messenger to ask them to retire, but the Argentines fired on him.

At this act of hostility the Chilians advanced and a fight ensued in which several were killed and wounded on both sides.

After the fight, the Argentines retired across the frontier line, and the Chilians resumed their original position.

Health journals insist upon reposing on the right side only, and claim that it is injurious to lie on both sides, but we don't know where they will find a healthier set of men than lawyers.

JOINT-STOCK FARMING.

Estancieros and others will be much interested in reading the following report of a Joint Stock Estancia Company which has proved a bright success, and is giving handsome dividends to its shareholders.

Joint-stock farming in the Plate is as yet in its infancy, but it will come in time. One or two companies we already know of, and if these company estancias are but managed economically, they will, doubtless, give the same handsome profits as individual cattle farming. Before another ten years we predict that there will be a hundred joint-stock cattle estancias in the Plate.

The following is the report:—

The second annual general meeting of the Prairie Cattle Company (Limited) was held in Edinburgh on Saturday week, Sheriff Guthrie Smith, chairman of the company, presiding.

The Chairman, in moving the adoption of the report for the period ending 20th of November, 1882, and the declaration of a dividend at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum, with a bonus of 17s. per share, as set forth in the report published on Saturday, said that the report sufficiently explained how the company had reached its present extent and importance. Their first year was purely experimental. Their attention had been drawn to the cattle business, as conducted in the West, by the many instances which had come to their knowledge, of men beginning in a small way, and in a few years becoming rich and prosperous by the natural increase of their herds. They had been led to conclude that what could be done by individuals without many advantages could be still better effected by a company properly organised and possessing the requisite amount of capital. Having proved by actual trial that their calculations were well founded, and anticipating that where they had successfully led others were sure soon to follow, they had decided last year, with the cordial concurrence of the shareholders, largely to extend the operations of the company. They had now reached the close of their second year, and he was happy to say that the result had been to confirm their feeling of confidence in the soundness of the principles on which this enterprise was based. The total number of cattle which they had acquired by purchase from the commencement of the company, including this last year's herd of seven thousand four hundred and, not omitting those which were bought, not for stock purposes, but for the purpose of fattening for sale, had been 104,491. Those had grown on their hands to between 139,000 and 140,000 altogether, while in the meantime they had drawn from them beef sufficient to pay all their expenses, and £10,000 last year and £50,000 of the profits this year. It was a very remarkable increase, and might give them a notion of the present value of their property; omitting anything for land and the value of their range rights, which had grown greatly on their hands, this number of cattle, if sold at the present market price, namely, 26 dollars a-head, would be £722,800. He thought, although he did not wish to appear in the position of a prophet, that the rate of increase was likely to be continued.

LAND TENURE.

That the farmer is coming to the front in England none can doubt. Last century he was a serf, to-day he is the most courted and most privileged of all classes. Agricultural literature now takes precedence of all others, and even into the British Cabinet the farmer has pushed his way, as the news is we are to have a new Cabinet Minister, to be called the Minister of Agriculture.

The following able paper on the systems of land tenure appeared in the Mark Lane Express, a paper particularly devoted to farming interests. People who have uncertain views on this most vital of topics might read with advantage the subjoined.

"The question, What is the best system of land tenure? is at this moment being discussed everywhere, on account of the land bill in Ireland, of the land reforms in England, and of the depression of the agricultural interests throughout Europe caused by American competition.

"The ground is cultivated either by the persons owning it, or by those to whom it has been rented on different conditions, such as 'metayage,' the ordinary leases for a number of years, or at will. The former mode of tenure is more favourable to production than the other, in so much as it more thoroughly assures to the cultivator the possession of the fruits of his labour, and the enjoyment of the improvements he has effected. In this respect landholding cannot be too highly commended.

An English agricultural economist, Arthur Young, who was greatly prejudiced in favour of great estates, has written: "Give a corner of a rock to a small landed proprietor, and he will turn it into a garden. The magic of property turns sand into gold." Go to the Pyrenees, to the Tuscan slopes of the Apenines, and to the bank of calcareous rocks in the Bay of Naples, celebrated as the retreat of Tiberius—the Island of Capri—you will find there that even the soil is created by man. Terraces of dry rock are raised one above another on the slopes of the mountains, and the soil is brought in basketfuls, and brought back again every time it is washed away by heavy rains. Vine and olive trees are planted, and at their feet corn and lupine flourish. The land-holder has made his land what it is by the sweat of his brow. Here is an example of what men will do when they are sure of possessing, in their entirety, the fruits of their labour. A one year's lease will lead a farmer to ruin the best land in the world, says also, Arthur Young. The misery of the Irish and their farming are proof of this.

Why should the farmer improve the soil when the rent robs him regularly of the fruit of his improvements.

To favour the progress of agriculture hereditary or very long leases approach nearer to ownership in proportion as the tenure is more surely guaranteed, and for a longer term.

A question often debated is: Which is preferable—large or small farming? We may call a farm of forty hectares (about a hundred acres) large, and a small one of less than twenty-five acres.

If it is, above all things, desireable for a country to be possessed of a strong and hardy peasant population, pround and free, like those of Rome in the early days of the republic, or of Switzerland, the United States, or Norway, at the present time, small farming, combined with small landholding, is incomparably the better means to attain this end. We may even add that, save in England, small farming gives larger gross, and even larger net, profits.

In proof of this, it suffices to compare the two systems in the different countries of the Continent. In Italy, the 'latifundia' of the Roman States and of Sicily to the little 'podere' of Tuscany; in Spain, the barren plains of Castile to the neighbourhood of Barcelona or Valencia; in Portugal, the bare stretches of Alentejo to the laughing 'aforamentos' of the northern provinces; in France, the departments of the centre to those of the north; in Prussia, the eastern provinces to those of the Rhine; and in Belgium, the Coudrez to the two Flanders. In England large farming and large landholding have stamped out this race of small proprietors, bravs and free, yeomen who fought so valiantly at Poitiers, at Crecy and at Agincourt.

See how the rural population is lacking in England:—

DISTRIBUTION OF THE POPULATION ACCORDING TO THEIR OCCUPATIONS.

	Agriculture	Industry	Commerce
England	26	43	13
France..........	53	28	11
Prussia	54	30	6
United States....	48	21	9
Belgium........	51	30	7

We must not forget Pliny's doleful cry, which sounds through economic history as a warning: 'Latifundia perdidere Italiani et provincias.' Large land-holding was the destruction of Italy and the provinces. Everywhere it had produced excessive inequality; depopulation, antagonism of classes, and finally downfall and ruin. Look, at this moment, what a difference between the farmer of England and the peasant-proprietor of France. The first has to pay wages to his workmen, interest on the capital and rent to the landlord; and, as just now the prices of wheat are depressed by American competition, farming is for him a losing trade. By and by he will let the land remain uncultivated. The peasant proprietor of France, with his ten or fifteen acres, has nothing to pay to anybody. He lives on his land and from his land. He sells some wine, poultry, eggs, and vegetables, which fetch always good prices; and with what he gets he buys what he cannot produce himself—his cloth, shoes, furniture and rural instruments, at long intervals. He is a free man, because a proprietor. He has nothing to fear from American competition, nor from the fall of prices. That is the reason why farming is drifting to bankruptcy in England, and is going on pretty well in France.

To complete the system of small landed property, the reconstitution of the state sovereign dominion and of the collective property of the commune must be added.

Authorities on legal matters, and among them Blackstone, have always admitted that the 'dominion' of all estates belonged to the state. In feudal times all fiefs were concessions from the sovereign. Louis XIV., in his instructions to his son, considers himself as possessed of chief authority over all the estates of his realm. Herbert Spencer proves very clearly that land, essential as it is to the very existence of man, cannot be monopolized by a few individuals, or the result would be a universal system of slavery. The recognition of the supreme sovereignty of the state should induce the contribution to that source of all augmentations in value which are not brought about by the possessors, but are the consequences of national progress. This is a point which Stuart Mill has established beyond the shadow of a doubt in his last writings.

In addition to this, in new countries, like America, where the state still possesses vast ranges of territory, it is not wise to dispose of them entirely in the way it is now doing. It would be better to let them on lease for ninety-nine years, as is constantly done in England. For the purchaser such a lease would be almost equal to the freehold. All the railways of our continent are but leasehold property, with eighty or ninety years to run. Agricultural progress would be every bit as rapid, and at the end of the century the state, coming into repossession of all her lands, would be enabled to suppress a very large proportion of the taxes.

The ideal of communal possessions is to be found in Switzerland. The American township is an admirable political institution; but the Swiss commune surpasses it, being also an economic institution. In the primitive cantons of Switzerland—Glarus, Unterwalden, Uri, Appenzell—the majority of the communes possess forest, meadows and arable land on the slopes of the mountains. The peasant has the right to cut from the forest what wood he needs for firing or for the repairing of his dwelling; to put out his cattle, which he has maintained through the winter, to graze on the communal pasturers in the summer; and, in addition to this, he can secure life possession of half an acre of land for the cultivation of his fruit and vegetables. The cultivator has in his garden the bare means of existence; and thus the very poorest is exempt from abject misery.

The allmend, as these communal lands are called, is worth a thousand English poor laws. Details respecting this curious institution are to be found in my book on "Primitive Property."—M. de Laveley in the American Agricultural Review.

THE LATE MR. A. R. PFEIL.

On the 15th instant there expired at Montevideo one of the oldest and best-known of the English residents in that city. Mr Adolphus Pfeil came out to the River Plate in 1833, and, with the exception of two or three visits to Europe upon important business, had resided in Montevideo ever since. On intimate terms with Sir Charles Hotham and with Lord Howden during the term of their respective special missions to the River Plate, Mr. Pfeil was commissioned to proceed to Europe, at an important juncture, to lay before Lord Palmerston and M. Guizot the position of affairs in these countries.

Subsequently he became Clerk to the British Legation at Montevideo, and assisted Mr. Lettsom in the settlement of the British claims upon the Uruguayan Government. He was Acting Consul in 1872, and up to the day of his death continued to act as Clerk to the Legation.

Mr. Pfeil, who was also for many years Lloyd's Agent at Montevideo, was a man of varied attainments—an excellent linguist, and of no mean artistic talents—while his clearness of judgment and courtesy of manner won for him the esteem of all those who were brought into official contact with him.

PARIS LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

January 19th.

Gambetta is already forgotten. His followers, up to the present, appear determined to remain a party. Such they can do, but that will not be for the interests of the Republic, which demand the fusion, not the maintenance, of groups. The Ministry Duclerc does not grow in favour—the difficulty of finding a successor seems to be the sole guarantee for its existence. The journals kill M. Grévy, as usual, on an average twice a week.

The Rev. M. Loyson has had his say on Gambetta at the large Theatre des Nations. The teacher was very eloquent, as a matter of course, and if he did not communicate anything new concerning the deceased, he expounded very brilliantly the typical features of his meteor-like career. To indulge in injurious language against the Republic was, in Mr. Loyson's eyes, as bad as blasphemies against God. The obsequies of Gambetta, he maintained, were religious, because patriotism was immortal, and the defunct was the first of patriots. The lecturer urged that political Christianity ought to make Germany restore Alsace to France. It would be difficult to convert Comte de Moltke and the Grand Chancellor to this creed. On the authority of the historian, Hein Martin, it seems Gambetta would have been a professing Christian had he not been ensnared by Comte's philosophy.

A matter, not at all to be overlooked, is the promised amelioration in the weather, and not a few prefer that to political wars. Indeed, the chronic drip under which we have lived since June last, was sufficient to make people discontented with everything. The farmers are now preparing to take the field, and the gardeners the garden. The buds on the trees are commencing to smell, and, pending the occasional glimpses of merry sunshine, the birds hold a concert respecting free love. Formerly we could judge the seasons by a ramble through the markets and survey the first fruits, but since the Alps have keen tunnelled and an express service organized with Algeria and Tunisia, we have all the delicacies of the season out of season, which is puzzling.

The Cremation Society is very indignant that the law still impedes the incineration of our remains. Were it not so, Gambetta's ashes would now be "safely inurn'd." The number of adhesions to the cremation movement are rapidly augmenting, the ladies being in the majority.

Friends having interfered, the separation of Sarah Bernhardt and her husband will not take place, that is, just now. In fact, that is the only sensation she has not experienced; perhaps, she sighs too for widowhood. Her husband discovered his bride had immense talents, united to—prodigious debts—the latter cooled his admiration for the former. Sarah has consented to sell her diamonds and other jewellery. She would add to her wealth by giving up the lesseeship of the Ambigu Theatre, which she gave as a toy to her son, who is still in his teens.

The Evénément, believing in the importance of the Latin race, has secured a correspondent at Rome. Italy ought to rejoice.

"Oh! Madame, I have found a white hair in your comb." "See, Adéle, if there be any more in my chignon."

The Rev. Joseph Cook says the "seven modern wonders of the world" are: The speed of intercommunication; the self-reformation of the hermit nations; the parallel advance of education and democracy the world over; the world-wide unity of civilization; the triumph of Christianity; the correct fulfilment of Bible prophecies, and the establishment, on a sure basis, of scientific supernaturalism.

WIRES UNDERGROUND

LATEST FROM PHILADELPHIA

The American Sectional Electric Underground Company gave an exhibition last night of their system of running electric light, telegraph and telephone wires underground. The exhibition took place in the building at the corner of Spring Garden and Broad Streets, and was attended by a number of electricians, insurance agents and business men of Philadelphia, New York, Chicago and Baltimore. Briefly described the proposed system consists of a conduit or main constructed of iron plates so as to form a box. The top plates are provided with man-holes at convenient distances through which access may be had to the main. Each of the side plates has an opening through which connections may be made with street lamps or houses for telephone, electric light or telegraph wires. Each wire is conducted through a metallic tube packed with rubber. Within the main is an upright with short arms projecting far enough to hold a rack to lay the line of tubes. When a wire enters a house for lighting purposes it is run direct to the lamp and out again to the conduit without breaking the circuit, and so on to the next light. The main trunk line when constructed will carry several thousand wires and leave room for a man to pass through. Each wire is protected by a metallic armor.

The advantages claimed for this system is that its introduction will remove from the streets the unsightly telegraph poles and prevent interference with the work of firemen often caused by the wires, and the damage to the telegraph companies resulting from broken wires. The wires will be prevented from interfering one with another, and the confusion and embarrassment resulting from induced currents will be prevented.

In the exhibition to-day tubes were shown in a conduit, one of them containing an electric-light wire, one a telegraph wire, one a telephone wire. The remaining tube had in it four conductors, two telephone wires and two telegraph wires, all of which were manipulated at the same time, yet no signs of interference from induction could be perceived. The telephone wire was in some places less than three inches from the electric-light wire, but no influence was exerted upon the electric-light wire. The exhibition was regarded as very satisfactory. At its conclusion a banquet was served at the Bellevue Hotel, at which were present, among others from New York, Mr. A.S. Brown, General Manager, and S. B. Field, electrician, of the Mutual Telegraph Company; General F. K. Hain, General Manager of the Manhattan Elevated Railroad; W. A. Anderson, J. F. Halsted, Colonel W. L. Brown, C. A. Blanchard and E. V. Smalley; from Philadelphia, Colonel R. Dale Benson, Colonel A. Louden Snowden, John E. Zeublin, Charles Hartshorne, Professor E. J. Houston, W. W. Harkness, Professor R. E. Rogers, General Joshua T. Owen, Chris. H. Cramp and Andrew Wheeler; from Baltimore, Dr. C. C. Bambaugh, A. Wilson, jr., and J. T. Morrison; Chicago, James McCartney, Attorney-General of Illinois; D. J. Sweenie, Professor J. H. Barrett, Judge John I. Bennett and Judge M. R. M. Wallace, and from Pittsburg Wm. M. Conway.

Speeches were made by Colonel A. K. McClure, who presided; Professor Houston, of Philadelphia; Senator Ecclesine, of New York; Professor Barrett, of Chicago; Attorney-General McCartney, of Illinois, and others.

THE ROCK OF GIBRALTAR.

A VISIT TO THE GAY TOWN WHERE THERE ARE ENGLISH, MOORS AND SPANIARDS.

Coming through the Straits of Gibraltar we sight land about noon, although the ship's "look-out" has cried "Terra, terra," some time earlier. Now a low-lying purplish shadow along the south-eastern horizon announces the presence of Africa, at Morocco. The excitement among the landsmen comes up to the proverbial mark. Every passenger seals his letters as though he expected the mail to depart on the instant and had no time to lose. And indeed the gum could hardly have dried upon the envelope when the yellow cliffs of Spain loomed up over the port bow.

Our Spanish lady began to cry, and our sentimental German hummed "Juanita." But the gong sounding for dinner, not even Spain was able to conquer our appetite for Italian soup, and we all struggled down the companion-way and surrounded the table in order of attack.

The coast scenery hereabouts is indescribably grand. On either side rugged mountains, dotted here and there with snow-white watch-towers or clumps of dark-green olive trees, rise almost sheer from the sea, their rugged tops cut in the clearest outline against the waste of white clouds behind them. The sky overhead is intensely blue and the water as green as an emerald. On every hand tiny steamers scurry to and fro, and curious fishing-boats, with black shell-like hulks and three-cornered sails, weather-reddened and picturesque. We sailed inward on the breast of the tide. Before 3 o'clock Gibraltar and Ape's Hill, the ancient pillars of Hercules, are distinctly to be seen. Ape's Hill is of all elevations that I have seen, the wildest and most forbidding. The gray rock is seamed and scarred and cut by gorges, the summit rising more than 2000 feet above the sea. Gibraltar accords to the popular description and resembles a colossal lion sleeping with his head upon his paws—a lion which Great Britain has posted there to growl the nations into fear. Only the real lion is not asleep—he is very wide awake, and his teeth are guns.

By five o'clock we had dropped our anchor in the bay. Our vision of the town, white and glittering, built against the sheer side of the rock, had made us impatient to land. But first the Sanitary Inspector's visit was necessary. Then a swarm of small boats suddenly clustered around us and innumerable Spanish boatmen (whose physiognomies were ridiculously Hibernian) clamoured and bargained with us to take us ashore—till all or nearly all had been engaged. The row across the bay was idyllic. The boatmen sang a weird adagio; the waves splashed and gurgled; the sea-gulls flew low, flashing like tanagers in the coloured sunshine; a cannon sounded from the outposts and a bugle wound its curious melody in the town.

Landing here is a matter of difficulty. You are surrounded by a multitude of Moors in blue and scarlet, of Spaniards with bright scarfs about their waists, and of boys as naked as strained propriety will allow, which nigh drives you frantic by its noisy endeavours to relieve you of your baggage—not even showing mercy to the simple traveller who carries but a cane.

"Luggy your sticky, mister?" was the inquiry pressed upon me by every individual member of that company. I was stern, however, in my refusal of assistance, and after a quarter of an hour had reached the Custom House, which is not 15 yards off. Here permits were made out and our party passed the Waterport Gate.

More Moors, more Spaniards, more naked boys, intermingled with donkeys and Jews and Europeans; the aroma of garlic boiled in bad oil assailing your nostrils from every quarter; the strange cries of the water-venders driving their mules, and the barking of dogs and the importunities of would-be guides; a narrow street lined with stucco houses, and shops where every conceivable article is sold; clouds of tobacco smoke, siroccos of street dust, carriages dashing by from the depths of which dark eyes of señoritas gleam bewitchingly; British red-coats, priggish young officers—this is the confused medley of a picture which memory presents to me to-night. This is the first hour's impression of the town of Gibraltar. The last hour has hardly changed it.

Having supped at the "King's Arms"—where, by the way, we were outrageously overcharged—we passed along the crowded streets to an Oriental Bazaar, where a genuine Moor with a turban, a snub nose and a cockney accent, sold us egregiously under the pretence of selling trinkets, "varranted to come from Hafrica." We escaped from his clutches only in time to reach the Allameda Gardens and hear a very monotonous concert played by the military band.

The next day we went ashore again and ascended the rock on donkey back. Up through the quaint Spanish streets, over the narrow pathways on the side of the precipice, through the galleries and past the sentries to the signal station, whence the finest of imaginable vistas bursts upon the sight. Africa and Spain mellow in the sunshine, and the two seas—the Atlantic and the Mediterranean—blue as the richest turquoise.

Our guide (who claims, by the way, to be the original Ferguson of Mark Twain) goes into rhapsodies. We descend from our donkeys and drink beer, conversing with the woman who sells it the while. She says water is scarce here at the top. No rain since March. Our wag supposes that she must catch a cloud every morning and condense it. She laughs and says that clouds are plenty, but the water is pumped up. She means forced up. And indeed the force must be enormous, for the altitude is 1,400 feet.

THE TUILERIES.

Preparations are being made for the demolition of the Tuileries, which operation has been undertaken by MM. Picart and Lapeyre. The authorities reserve to themselves, however, the privilege of superintending the work and of buying back from MM. Picard and Lapeyre, at a fixed rate of so much per yard, whatever portions of the palace they may desire to maintain. There are, of course, many interesting relics with which it would be sheer folly to part, and it is satisfactory to note that the Government is fully alive to their value. Meanwhile M. Garnier, the architect of the Opera, and the contractors, are daily receiving letters of a rather amusing character relative to the presumed existence of a treasure which was buried in the cellars during the Revolution. Unfortunately, the writers of these epistles omit to explain the whereabouts of this treasure, with, however, one curious exception, that of 'Prince Adalbert de Bourbon,' an officer in the Dutch Army. He is the son of the watchmaker Naundorff, who claimed to be Dauphin of France, and son of Louis XVI. If this gentleman's declaration should turn out to be correct, it would certainly lend some authority to his father's pretensions and revive the controversy as to the truth or falsehood of the young Dauphin's escape from the Temple. From the Bourbons to the Revolutionists is a long cry, but one more letter addressed to M. Picart deserves mention if only for the originality of the suggestion that it contains. 'Citoyen,' it runs, 'I come in the name of a group of Anarchists to offer their gratuitous services for the demolition of the tyrants' old den. We promise to complete the work by July 14, the anniversary of the taking of the Bastille by the noble people of Paris. Our brethren who committed such havoc at Montceau-les Mines send you cordial greetings. Signed, Louise Michel." It is more than probable that some one has been making free with the signature of the "Grande Citoyenne," and that the whole thing is a hoax; but it has had the effect of raising a laugh.

Visitors to Paris are familiar with the outward aspect of the ruined pile. Few, however, have penetrated within its precincts. Débris of stone, plaster, and bronze lie about in confused heaps, while in some places the grass has been allowed to grow nearly two feet in height. The great clock, still intact, points to the hour (five minutes past nine) at which it stopped more than twelve years ago. It is the central pavilion which has suffered least from the flames, and a large portion of which may yet be preserved. Its two façades, overlooking the garden and the Place du Carrousel, are scarcely injured, though the interior is, of course, hopelessly damaged. The eight candelabra which illuminated the Grand Salon on the first floor still remain attached to the walls, but blackened by the action of the fire. The splendid staircase that led to the Salle des Maréchaux and to the reception rooms has fallen in, nor are there any traces of the Salle des Fêtes. A statue and bas-reliefs, sadly delapidated, alone survive. In the old Salle des Maréchaux only a few escutcheons, with Austerlitz, Wagram, Jena, Marengo, Friedland, and Moskowa inscribed thereon, are still to be seen. On the other hand, the Emperor's study has sustained comparatively slight injury. MM. Picart and Lapeyre hope to have everything cleared away by Aug. 1st. The ground will then be opened, but what is to be done with it is not yet settled. The Senate, it is true, only voted the demolition of the Tuileries on the express condition that the Palace should be rebuilt, but the authorities hesitate to incur the expense, which is estimated at 13,000,000 francs.

EDITOR'S TABLE

The sensation of yesterday was the news published by the Nacion about a fight in the Cordillera between Argentine and Chilian troops. The mishap is unpleasant, but cannot lead to anything more serious than a waste of diplomatic paper and ink.

The farmers and estancieros were not alone yesterday in declaring the full moon to be what our Americans Cousins emphatically and most euphoniously call "a fraud." Everybody expected rain from the change in the 'luna,' but it seemed farther off than ever yesterday. They have had it in Cordoba, in Bahia Blanca, and other places, but there is not a drop for Buenos Aires. The dust on the Flores Road is something truly awful—three inches deep.

There seems, at long last, to be a faint prospect of the Ten Cents war coming to a close. It is confidently stated that Iglesias and the Cajamarca Congress are ready to cede territory to Chile, and save the country from utter ruin. In Lima the auctioneere are busy selling off the embargoed furniture of those Notables who refuse to pay the too frequent war contributions levied by the conquerors.

Our Packet Edition for the R.M.S Guadiana will appear on Tuesday next.

We hear that the Club Germania (385 Tucuman) is getting up a most attractive performance in aid of the sufferers by the inundations in the Rhine Valley. The programme will be out next week. We wish this charitable effort the most brilliant success.

The city of Santos is thirsting for a summer season of opera, and has been making overtures to Manager Ferrari for the same. Think of a ballet in Santos with the thermometer at 95!

We thought there was no room for difference of opinion as to the state of the Riachuelo water, but we were wrong. A morning colleague of hitherto unimpeached veracity declares that the water is so pellucid that the Nyanza is reflected in it as in a mirror! ! The next time this reporter is thirsty we recommend him to try a glass of the precious fluid, and should he survive it, we'll give him a Standard (Packet) free till his wedding day.

The Minister of Finance did a good deal in the 'no hay lugar' line the other day for several parties who wanted to get in 'free of duty' telescopes, boats, tiles and cartridge machinery, etc., etc. We don't pity the cartridge man a bit; the country is far too well supplied with that article.

Advices from Montevideo report the PasoHondo affair as warming up again. The public are sick of it.

A Rosario attorney has got into durance vile for that now popular offence 'desacato,' in refusing to pay a fine imposed by the Court. The papers say that great political changes are at hand in Santa Fe, and that the Iriondo dynasty is on its last legs.

Prince Drago, a cousin of King Humbert, was near leaving his bones in Chile last month. H.H., the Minister of the Interior, and other personages passed over a bridge, in an express train, a few minutes before it gave way, while a goods train was passing over it.

The funeral of the late Mr Edward Garrahan, which took place on Friday last, in Lujan, was attended by a most numerous and respectable gathering. There were over thirty private carriages besides some hundred horsemen. There were persons from all parts of the camp, which clearly showed the high esteem in which Mr Garrahan was held by everyone. Over the tomb Dean Dillon, who most highly appreciated the deceased, pronounced a well deserved eulogium.—Southern Cross.

A mother-in-law "in posse" at Montevideo made an attempt to commit homicide some days ago. She caught the Lothario whispering to her daughter through the 'reja' of the front window and at once mounted to the "azotea," armed with a huge paving stone which she let drop on the lover, who had his hat off. Fortunately, it hit him on the shoulder instead of the head, which the old dame had intended. He was knocked down, but soon jumped up and hurled back the stone at his treacherous assailant; but she ran for it, and, soon after, was heard administering corporal punishment to her daughter with a thick broomstick.

An absurd rumour was set afloat on Thursday evening to the effect that one of the National ironclads had been blown over the moon by a torpedo that was 'paseando' about the river. Some malicious wag set the 'canard' a-wing.

Some vandals have torn down and destroyed many of the trees recently planted in Calle Rivadavia. Oh! ye Goths.

Dr. Quesada, Special Envoy to the Brazilian Court, leaves to-day in the French packet. We wish him success in his mission on the Missions.

The Panslavonic movement has spread to the Plate. A Russian paper, to be called the Slav-Iskra-Slavyancke-Slobode (Let no reader with natural teeth try to pronounce this word, or he will have to pay Newland or Newberry a visit) will make its first appearance on Sunday next. We have an opening for a Russian translator.

The surveys for the Junction of the Western and Ensenada Railways are now complete. The line will run from Moron through San Justo and Lomas to Temperley. It wont take long to make.

Hint for our High Lifers—"The French aristocracy having introduced the minuet and gavotte at their country houses it is expected that those dances will be enjoyed largely in Paris during the winter. In fact the practice has already begun."

One day toward nightfall, and in uncertain light, a man bought an overcoat of pretended plum colour. The next morning it proved to be of a quite too unmistakable green. Returning it to the shopkeeper, that worthy regarded the buyer calmly, and said: "You must have a little patience with it, my dear sir; it isn't ripe yet."

A leading 'tienda' in this city was swindled the other day by an elegantly dressed fair one who announced herself as the wife of a well known citizen. She had her nurse and baby with her, and, as each parcel was made up and handed to her, she gave it to the nurse, who soon had a big pile on the counter before her, while she sang "aroro" for the baby. Presently the lady suggested that the nurse should take the parcels home and return for more, and she would take charge of the baby. She flirted for an hour with the shopmen and bought just as much more as she could conveniently carry herself. Then she became alarmed at the prolonged absence of the nurse and declared she would go home and see about her, if she could find a place to lay the baby till her return. One of the fascinated shopmen gave up his own bed to the "criatura," and the lady departed, smiling divinely. She did not come back, and about 8 p.m. the sleeping baby was discovered to be a doll.

Tennyson, according to Mr Labouchère, has had little experience behind the scenes of theatres. He was shown a dressing room, and he said, "Here, then, the ladies put on their fleshlings." When "Premise" was being rehearsed he was anxious that the rustics should be 'more bovine.'

A much esteemed subscriber of ours had a narrow escape yesterday of never being called esteemed again in this world, however he may fare in the next. While riding in a tram car in Calle Alsina, a carriage ran slap into it, and the pole grazed his ribs. Half an inch more, and he was spitted like a spatchcock and 'borrared' from our list for ever. We congratulate him warmly on his escape.

We are happy to announce that Don Mateo Forrester is rapidly recovering and is now able to take carriage exercise.

The moral condition of Quilmes is improving at such a rate that there is now only one convict available for the Public Works there, whereas formerly there were always a dozen or more.

Mr. Brander is requested to take note that another Juegos Florales business is being got up for the 12th October next.

The Southern Cross of yesterday has an excellent bit of original poetry entitled "Sarmiento." It is very cleverly done.

The church of Santa Rosa in Asuncion was struck by lightning during the last storm and burned to the ground. By great exertion a statue of the Patroness of South America was saved.

The Chilians are the most ingenious people in South America. Some time ago a Mr. What's-his-name discovered the secret of turning copper into gold, and is still in jail for that scientific achievement. The latest discovery is a new way to take old medicine. Whenever Castor oil, blue pill, black-draught, or anything else, has to be swallowed it is given to a milch cow, and the patient swallows the milk instead of the medicine, experiment having proved that the milk has the same effect as if the drug were swallowed first hand.

George III., speaking to Archbishop Sutton respecting his large family, made the remark: "I believe your Grace has better than a dozen?" "No, sire," replied the Archbishop, "only eleven." "Well," replied the King, "isn't that better than a dozen?"

There was truly shocking news from Cordoba yesterday. Mr. Gill Navarro, the talented editor of the Progreso. telegraphed to President Roca that the result of the post-mortem examination of Bishop Esquiu's remains shows that that venerated prelate was poisoned with arsenic! What a dastardly and horrible crime!

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

Coughs, Colds, Catarrhs, Inflammation of the Lungs, Bronchitis and Incipient Consumption, and also for the relief of those suffering from Chronic Consumption even in its Most Advanced Stage.

In the various affections of the Throat and Lungs, its employment in the first stage is always sure to arrest the disease, which makes Dr. AYER'S Cherry Pectoral a most desirable medicine to have always at hand. Those who have used this medicine knowing well its efficacy, declare they are never without it at home and never fail to recommend it to their friends suffering from any of the above diseases.

Medical men who know well the formula by which it is compounded, and the beneficial effects from its employment, never fail to prescribe Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

It is also frequently recommended by those of the Clergy who have used it. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is also remarkable in its Sanatory effects, arresting as it is sure to do, the ravages of epidemic affections of the Throat and Lungs, thus making it the most efficacious medicine which can be employed.

The Rev. Mr. Smith Testimonial Fund.

At the General Meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Buenos Ayres, held on the 31st January, 1883, attention was called to the near approach of the time when the Rev. James Smith's official connection with the Church and people of Buenos Ayres would cease. The propriety of some manifestation being made by the Community on this occasion, to mark its appreciation of a life's work, having been mooted and unanimously recognised, it was resolved that such manifestation should assume the form of a pecuniary gift to the Rev. Gentleman, and a Committee was at the same time nominated with the view of carrying such resolution into effect.

In pursuance of this resolution, the Committee beg to inform the Community who sympathise with them in the matter, that Subscription Lists for signature will be found at the undermentioned places.

Other Lists will be forwarded to some of the outlying districts of Buenos Ayres and the Oriental Republic. Members residing at a distance, desirous of taking part in this manifestation, and who may not have access to any of these List-sheets, can obtain them upon application to the Honorary Secretary, David Methven jun., Calle Reconquista 89, who will also be ready to receive any particular subscription towards the same object up to March 15th, prox.

Accidents.

The importance of using only good kerosene cannot be too highly appreciated; witness the terrible accidents lately, such as the deaths of Mr Levey in this city, and Mr Dean in Navarro, and the great fire at the corner of Chacabuco and Europa, all caused by the bursting of lamps charged with inferior kerosene.
In the United States the sale of kerosene under 115° is severely punished, and in every country where the interests of the public are cared for, laws have been enacted regulating the quality of oil to be offered to the public.
Yellow kerosene is always impure and the strong-smelling stuff in general use here would be found under 100° if analysed; it is needless to add it is highly dangerous.
The only way to be perfectly safe is to use Kerosene 'Luxor,' guaranteed 140° fire test; it is white, entirely free from any disagreeable odour, gives twice the light, lasts one third longer, and is consequently as cheap as any kerosene in this market.
If through using a bad article when he can get a good one just as cheap, a man meets with an accident, he is scarcely to be pitied.

Patacon	25.01
Cedulas A	100½
Cedulas E	85
National Bank Shares	106

About one hundred thousand patacons gold were sold during official hours at 25.01. The market shews no change. The exchange market rules excessively dull; there are very few drawers.

Cedulas continue to rule very firm. One thousand Series A changed hands at 100½; 18,000 Series E were sold for cash at 85, and 20,000 for the end of the month at 84¾ and 85. Operations for the end of March and April were effected at 85⅝ for the former date and 85⅝ for the latter. The market rules firm and rates look upwards.

National Bank Shares maintain their position. Operations were very limited and only amounted to 1,400 shares during official hours. 450 shares changed hands for the end of the month at 106, 105⅝ and 105½; the market closed at 106. Close on 1,000 shares were sold for the end of March at 102-¼ ex dividend and 107-½ cum dividend.

The meeting of shareholders to-day at the National Bank was a revelation; nobody expected to see such a crowd. At least 300 people sat on the chairs, and we noticed that the shareholders were of all walks of life, estancieros, brokers, dentists, lawyers, clerks, &c. A leading English broker remarked that if all the gentlemen present were shareholders and each kept an account current in the Bank none need doubt its future. At the last meeting of the Bank there were only 40 shareholders, and the present assembly offered a great contrast, but the members were so heterogeneous that it needed little perspicuity to see through electoral manœuvres. The meeting was one of artificial shareholders. The talented President of the Bank opened proceedings, referring to the former meeting and stating the objects of the present one:—

Nomination of two Directors.
Nomination of a committee to study the report of the Bank, and Nomination of a special committee to scrutinize votes.

Dr. Pacheco proposed that the old custom of the Bank, giving the President the privilege of submitting the names of the gentlemen for the Committee, be observed. Mr. Morel then rose from his seat and proposed firstly, that the Shareholders approve of the Report of the Directors, secondly, that the Committee be named and proposed by the Shareholders. Dr. Pacheco informed the honourable Shareholder that it was customary that a special Committee should study the Report and then submit to the Shareholders their decision; hereon the honourable member withdrew his first motion, but maintained his second one with regard to the nomination of the members of the proposed Committee for the scrutiny of votes and study of the Report. Mr. Israel than rose and moved that the President should propose the gentlemen for the Committee. The motions were then put to the vote and Mr. Israel's was carried by a large majority. Dr. Pacheco proposed—

Mr. Morel,
Costa,
Villanueva,
Marsans,
Boer,

the above names were unanimously accepted, when Mr. P. Molina moved that a sixth party be appointed; his motion was thrown out. The Shareholders then rose to deposit their votes for the new Directors; there were two lists:—

First list—
Mr. Chayla
Mr. Rodriguez Orey
Second list—
Mr. S. B. Salas
Mr. A. Ocampo.

Both lists were apparently well supported, and the results of the scrutiny will be known to-morrow afternoon. It was generally stated that many shareholders had voted for a special list, composed of Messrs Chayla and Salas, as a kind of compromise between both. Those who had anticipated any discussion with regard to the tenor of the Report of the directors were mistaken. The actual committee is now studying the report, and a special meeting will be summoned to hear its opinion in the matter. Most of the shareholders left the "patio" at three o'clock.

Telegrams from the Interior poured in to-day inquiring for the names of the new directors of the Bank.

The wool market offers the usual aspect. The very many inferior qualities that are pouring into the Plazas find no market. A gentleman specially sent out to the R. Plate to report on the condition of wools has written home that the bulk of R. Plate wools if bought at $60 m/c on an average would prove a 'clavo'. Good qualities of wool are in steady demand and prices very firm; in view of their scarcity it is probable that prices will continue firm throughout the season.

Mr. E. Dervillée took leave of his many friends on 'Change to-day; he leaves to-morrow in the Gironde for France after having paid the River Plate a flying visit of a few months. Mr. Dervillée, who has travelled all over Australia, has had the opportunity of studying our wool industry, the prospects of which he considers most satisfactory. He takes with him the very best impressions of the R. Plate, and his many friends hope to see him soon back.

Some splendid wool from Olavarria was sold to-day in the South Plaza at $112 m/c per @; native barraquero buyer.

Telegrams from London announce much animation in the wool sales and a better feeling in the article. Prices, it appears, are somewhat firmer.

The sales at afterhours were:—
National Bank Shares—
For Feb. 28th buyer at 106

The export of wool from 1st Oct. ult. to date of 1882 and 1883 stands as follows:—

	1882	1883

Spain	85	200
United States	956	313
	145,091	121,783

The arrivals of wool of the season are calculated at 4,000,000 @ at least. Wool men think that this clip will exceed the last by about 800,000 @—say 23,500 bales more than last year.

The hide market is firm. The following retrospect of sales during the fortnight we take from La Nacion:—

Novillo hides.

Total, 11,000 hides.

The hide sales of this season amounted to 102,150 against 112,600 hides in the same period.

3 to 4,000 Paysandu potro hides of 33 lb at 20 rls. gold on board.

The Water Board has addressed a note to the Minister of the Interior stating that the actual supply of water is insufficient to meet the wants of the population. It is really incredible that in the XIXth century, with the largest river in the world at our doors, there should be a scarcity of water in this city. The Water Board states that the large pumps can be put up in three months, and the piping changed in six months, but the Board of Health opines that a further supply of water would endanger the hygienic (?) state of the city. Had we a Thales on the Board of Health there would be a fountain at every street-corner and public baths in every Plaza. We want more water in this country, more 'norias' and more wind-mills; the distribution of water in the Pampa is as faulty as that of the city. The Porteños should take a leaf out of the Mendocinos' book, where irrigation supplies the defects of nature.

Telegrams from Bahia Blanca state that it has rained abundantly in the district of Tres Arroyos. Camps are in splendid condition and animals fat. The South camps in general are in fair condition, but the Northern and Western districts are suffering much from the drought. The anxiously expected turn in the weather has not yet come, and a change will probably not take place before the very end of the month now. The maize fields are in a most lamentable condition, and 'chacareros' fear that the bulk of the crop will be lost.

The Villarino will leave on Sunday for the far South. She will take a large cargo, mainly uniforms and provisions for the Nahuel Huapi expedition; a fine American wind-mill goes down to an estancia near Patagones; it is the first wind-mill ever sent to the Rio Negro; several estancieros of the Province think of putting up these wind-mills on trial. The results obtained in Quilmes are splendid and we hear that the Great Southern Railway Co. has purchased one to feed the engines of the line.

The reduction of the minimum of the Bank of France reflects the favorable state of affairs in Paris. But the reduction in the rate has lost all its significance since the Franken contract fell through. All rumors about new proposals to the Bank have fallen through, and not a shadow of same is left in the Bolsa. Speculation at the ring now operates on the prospects of the Bank in this market; the bulls believe in the future of the Bank, because they believe in the future of the country. The bears look on the prospects as of a very hazy and problematical nature, and base their operations on future financial difficulties in the market.

The returns of the Nation are most satisfactory. The receipts of the Custom House of B. Aires and Rosario are large and shew that imports are very active. Every steamer from Europe brings heavy cargoes of merchandise, and the import market shews a much better feeling. There is great activity in several articles, and the stock on hand is moving off faster than was anticipated. The market is losing its sluggish features.

BIRTH

On the 22nd February, the wife of Reginald Cooper, of a son.

THE ONE THING NEEDFUL IN THE WIFE of a colonist is that she shall know how to make good bread, cakes and pastry, and to teach her servant to 'do likewise.' In order to perform this feat she must be sure of her leavening agent, and to this end she should eschew all those preparations of unknown makers, and use only such articles as Borwick's Baking Powder, which for nearly 40 years has stood the test of use in every part of the inhabited globe. Those who aim at the more artistic branches of culinary art, should try the Gold Medal Custard Powder, which is said on good authority to produce the most delicious custards, blancmanges, &c, without eggs, and at half the usual cost. No store should be without a good supply of these two articles.

78—ALSINA—78
El Jueves 15 de Marzo
A las 2 p.m.

Remataremos a la mas alta postura y sin limitacion de ninguna clase, los mas afamados campos de la Provincia de Santa Fe conocidos por Loreto distantes unicamente 25 leguas de Pergamino, 6 de la colonia Iriondo, 10 de la colonia Alvear (La Teodolina) 13 de la Estacion Tortugas del Ferro Carril Central Argentino, 16 de la Cañada de Gomez, Estacion del mismo Ferro Carril y entre el Ferro Carril de Clark, el proyectado ramal del F. C. del O. desde el Pergamino al Rio 4° y el Oeste Santafesino. Estos campos lindan con los famosos y conocidos del Venado Tuerto y con estancias, como la de los Sres Ostendorp y Ca., Diego Alvear, heredero de Armstrong y otros.

Los campos que acaba de vender el Gobierno de la Provincia a 400,000$ m/c estan mas distantes de la Capital que estos que ofrecemos en venta.

Ademas con la rapidez que se esten construyendo los Ferro Carriles y ramales en la Republica demuestran claramente que en un corto tiempo la poblacion va a estenderse extraordinariamente y entonces toda la propiedad rural tiene que triplicar en valor, de manera que cuando llegue a venderse el ultimo plazo el comprador se encontrara con una propiedad valiosa.

La calidad del campo se garante igual al Venado Tuerto por lo tanto creemos inutil entrar en mayores descripciones sobre el terreno, sus pastos etc, ademas la persona que quiera ver y examinarlos puede toma la Galera que va del Pergamino al Hinojo ocurriendo por la pasage gratis al Sr D. Eduardo Casey Reconquista num. 80.

El campo sera dividido en lotes de ½ (media) legua teniendo el comprador el derecho de tomar cuatro leguas por el mismo precio.

Todos los lotes seran vendidos sin reserva de ninguna clase al mas alto postor y el pago se hara una cuarta parte al contado y el resto en cuatro anualidades con el 7 o/o de interes.

Los planos de estos campos podran obtenerse del 20 del corriente Febrero en adelante ocurriendo a casa del Sr D. Eduardo Casey num. 80, o a nuestra casa Alsina 78.

El area total se compone de 10 leguas kilometricas, que pueden facilmente dividirse en 2 fracciones, una de 4 y la otra de 6 leguas y si los interesados los desean en lotes de dos leguas.

Esta seccion es una de la mas pobladas, debido a la bondad de sus pastos y calidad de sus tierras, adecuados para la cria del ganado vacuno y lanar.

Esta campo disto 3 leguas del pueblo General Acha, donde existen fuerzas Nacionales, y sabido es la importancia que tiene la inmediacion de un pueblo en estas alturas para que entremos aqui a demostrarlo.

Al costado mismo esta un Establecimiento, parte alambrado, del Sr. D Augusto Escandy, poblado por el señor Capdeville, con 2,500 vacas, 500 yeguas, y 3000 ovejas y los otros linderos son:

Augusto Escandy, Simon, Obligado, Hurtado, y Martinez A. Mcabe y otros.

Sin contar un numero crecido de nuevos pobladores que estan esperando que llueva para llevar las haciendas que tienen ya compradas.

Creemos por demas llamar la atencion de los interesados sobre la importancia que tendran estos campos una vez terminada la linea del Ferro Carril del Sud a Bahia Blanca.

Demostradas todas las ventajas solo nos queda decir que la base de ps. 30,000 m/c por legua fijada para la venta es sumamente baja, en vista de las recientes ventas que se han hecho de campos situados mucho mas afuera.

"PLOUGHS"

"PLOUGHS" "PLOUGHS"

Messrs M. Forrester & Co.

Beg to announce to the Public that they have lately introduced into this country with great success the

Celebrated Two and Three Furrow Ploughs
OF
ENGLAND

These WROUGHT IRON PLOUGHS fitted with breasts and shares of steel, have been extensively used in the Provinces and are destined to supersede the light and flimsy wood implements made by the Americans.

By means of a simple hand lever the onward movement of the animals raises the plough out of work at the ends, thus saving the driver the usual hard lifting connected with ploughing.

The two Furrow Plough is drawn by a pair of bullocks, thus doing double the work of a single plough and still with only one man.

These "Multiple" Ploughs are now almost universally employed in Australia and South Africa, and in recommending these implements Messrs. Forrester & Co feel confident that they are well adapted to the requirements of the Plate.

In order to procure these Ploughs orders should be sent in at once, or disappointment may be incurred.

Dysentery, Cholera Fever, Ague, Coughs, Colds, &c.

Dr J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne
(Ex Army Medical Staff)

IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CAUTION—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. P. Wood stated that Dr J. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne; that the story of the defendant, Freeman, being the inventor was deliberately untrue, which he regret ted had been sworn to. Eminent hospital physicians of London stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the discoverer of Chlorodyne; that they prescribe it largely, and mean no other than Dr Browne's—See Times, July 12th 1864.

The Public, therefore, are cautioned against using any other than

Dr J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.

REMEDIAL USES AND ACTION.

This invaluable remedy produces quiet, refreshing sleep, relieves pain, calms the system, restores the deranged functions, and stimulates health action of the secretions of the body, without creating any of those unpleasant results attending the use of opium. Old and young may take it all hours and times when requisite. Thousands of persons testify to its marvellous good effects and wonderful cures, while medical men extol its virtues most extensively.

CHLORODYNE is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation and Spasms.

From Symes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemists, Medical Hall, Simla, Jan. 5th 1880. To J. T. Davenport, Esq., 33, Great Russell Street, Bloomsbury, London—"Dear Sir, we embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the wide-spread reputation this justly-esteemed medicine, DR. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE, has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan, but all over the East. As a remedy of general utility, we much question whether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are happy to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and, judging from their sale, we fancy their sojourn there will be but evanescent. We could multiply instances ad infinitum of the extraordinary efficacy of DR. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE in Diarrhoea, and Dysentery, Spasms, Cramps, Neuralgia, the Vomitting of Pregnancy, and as a general sedative, that have occurred under our personal observation during many years. In Choleratic Diarrhoea, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controlling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's, from a firm conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's is a "deliberate breach of faith on the part of the chemist to prescriber and patient alike." We are, Sir, faithfully yours, Symes & Co., Members of the Pharm. Society of Great Britain, His Excellency the Viceroy's Chemists."

Extract from the General Board of Health, London, as to its efficacy in Cholera—"So strongly are we convinced of the immense value of this remedy that we cannot too forcibly urge the necessity of adopting it in all classes."

CAUTION—None genuine without the words 'Dr J Collis Browne on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.
